THE PROGRAM

Partnering with Onstream Media as a reseller means you will be able to add webcasting, web conferencing, content publishing and audio conferencing web-based communication services to your product line – providing your customers with a complete set of tools for interacting and communicating online.

As an agency reseller, you can re-engage with your customers, expand your communications offerings with privately labeled solutions and generate new, recurring, high-profit revenue streams. The program is completely turnkey, including complete marketing support; there are no servers to own and no software to set up.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Onstream Media has provided more than 50% of the Fortune 1000 Companies with the world's most reliable online meetings, audio conferencing, streaming media and digital communications. The company has recently introduced a robust, agency-reseller program, providing global telecom providers, publishers and other communications companies with a comprehensive suite of services for interacting and communicating online.
